"We view our diversified specialty finance platform as a key differentiator which enables us to navigate market uncertainties and supply/demand imbalances in middle market private credit," said Michael Gross, Co-CEO of SLR Investment Corp. "Given the current environment, we have accelerated our tilt toward defensive asset-based lending and specialty finance investments, leveraging actively managed borrowing bases and liquid collateral to support resilient returns while taking a more opportunistic approach to cash flow investments. In Q2, 98% of our $471 million comprehensive portfolio originations were in specialty finance assets, as we rebuild the earnings power of SLRC's portfolio. With over $900 million of available capital, we are well positioned to provide borrowers with growth capital and liquidity with asset-based financing solutions which offer attractive risk-adjusted returns."

"At June 30th, our watchlist accounts for only 2.5% of the FV of our portfolio and we have high conviction in the credit quality of our diversified portfolio with over 97% of our income-producing portfolio performing at or above expectations," said Bruce Spohler, Co-CEO of SLR Investment Corp. "Following the repayment of an investment above par in Q2, our holdings of software investments was reduced to under 1% of our comprehensive portfolio."
